

From outer space, Earth looks like a blue ball. The blue water covers three-fourths of the Earth's surface. Blue is the color we see most. All land looks brown, like small islands next to the blue sea. White clouds wrap around the Earth and cover it like a blanket. The Earth is 25,000 miles around! A spaceship can fly around the Earth in only 90 minutes.

The Earth has just one Moon. Spaceships have traveled to the Moon but people cannot visit the Moon without suits. The Moon has no air or water. Nothing can live on the Moon.
