Directions: Study the online course descriptions in the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Bulletin to choose courses that you need. Use the online "Schedule of Classes, First Semester (or Second Semester) 2009-2010"* to verify that courses will be offered during the period you will be attending. The "Schedule" will also indicate the call numbers, course number, section number and credit hours for each course. Carefully study your choices for conflicts in time, pre-requisites required, and additional labs or recitations required. Exchange students are expected to maintain full-time status, which is a minimum of 12 credit hours for undergraduate level or 9 credit hours for graduate level. The exchange program will provide up to 15 hours of undergraduate level courses or 12 hours of graduate level. Costs for additional hours will be billed to the student.

Enter your course requests in order of priority. Provide several alternative courses. The registration limit is 18 hours. If you cannot provide course numbers and/or call numbers, your registration may be delayed.
