Two Information Sessions for Faculty about ACE Assessment

Assessing Outcomes

Wednesday, September 16

1:30-3:00

East Campus Union

Thursday, September 24

1:30-3:00

Nebraska Union

Shari Stenberg

Associate Professor of English

Erin Blankenship

Associate Professor of Statistics

These sessions offer an innovative, faculty-driven model for assessing outcomes. Dr. Shari Stenberg and Dr. Erin Blankenship will describe their work with faculty across campus to develop and pilot a rubric to assess ACE 1. Faculty will spend the second half of the session working with other instructors to apply the model to the ACE outcome of their choice. These sessions provide faculty with useful ways to think about the outcomes they're teaching and opportunities to exchange ideas for effective assessment.

Managing ACE Course Assessment

Wednesday, September 30

1:30-3:00

Nebraska Union

Tiffany Heng-Moss

Associate Professor of Entomology

If you are looking for efficient ways to document student achievement for your ACE course, come to this session. Dr. Tiffany Heng-Moss will share tips for making the assessment process meaningful and effective. Please bring a copy of the syllabus for your ACE course, as facilitators will help you develop a workable plan during the second half of this session. Faculty will be rewarded with stimulating and practical ideas to apply in their own assessment work.
