

The Scholar-Practitioner Model

Teachers College has adopted the "scholar-practitioner" model establishing a strong linkage between research and practice; integrating work in teaching, research, and service; and teaching students to become reflective professionals who can investigate on their own.