

RAWLINS COUNTY

Rawlins County borders on Nebraska and is second county east of Colorado. Atwood is the county seat. The county has 6217 inhabitants, among them are 56 Czech families. The county assessment is valued at $1,205,851. The sum of debt is $49,155. Topography is rolling prairie, with here and there, it is level and again steep slopes tending to become inclines. Soil is fertile. On good soil is the hope for farming as dry rules the area always. Price of land is erratic and is according to the circumstance if it's possible to sell and most generally it is possible. And Czechs here are scattered throughout the county, for the most part in the southwest. In this county near the Beaver stream, which is five miles east, at the present time, the small town of Ludell. Near by is the murdering Indian Tribe of Cheyenne, on 4th of October 1879, a colony of Bohemian settlers came as follows: Ignac and Petr Janousek, both from Tisic near Unhost; Jan Sochor from Unhost and Rud. Springer originating from Kladna.
