KNOX COUNTY, NEBRASKA

(It) lies south of the Missouri River, in the northeastern part of the state. There are 8554 inhabitants. The town of Niobrara is the county seat. The topography is mostly rolling prairie. The cone-shaped hills and valleys, draws oneself there to a great extent to the picture of the countryside of this county. This romantic countryside must appeal to everyone, viewed higher up on the ridge of mountains, one can see the streams and rivers wind like a serpent and farther, upper mountains, green trees, and the lower mountain range forms cone shaped manner, gives impression of a waving surging sea! Land in the valley is fertile; higher slopes is either sandy or gravel in a mixture; crops not as fertile as in the valleys. The Czech colony here has their origin and start from Chicago, Illinois, where the Czech colony was founded which in 1869, sent out a number of members of their own to look over different states. For the male group, it was a great difficulty, so to speak, impossible for the members of the colony to find land with forest, prairie, and spring water. It isn't surprising then to see this group standing on elevated prairie, north from the Missouri River, and could see south across the river, the beautiful valley along the Niobrara River and the distant valley of Verdigre where there was forest, water, and prairie. The idea at once was to act on land (homestead), divide the land in parts, without seeing it, since the western side on the Niobrara River was the Indian Reservation, it would have left the settlers forbidden fruits. Returning in a hurry, with the colony, finding their divisions, and adapted in a relatively short time, with the first part of settlers in their new home and were: Mr. Fr. Janousek, Mr. Vaclav Randa, Mr. Jan Srajer, Mr. Ant. Pisl, Mr. Jan Holecek, Mr. Josef Krupicka and more other homesteads were here. Later Mr. Frant. Bem separated himself and moved to South Dakota. There was a span of time disputes among the settlers led a precedence and contrast in settlement with Nebraska opposite South Dakota. From the first times, settlers hereabouts suffered great disappointments and ruined crops. Yet, at that time, small, were their neighbor Indians named Ponca. Yes, many found a living in Chicago, traveling to there to work, on foot, working in the iron works (perhaps railroad). (Taken from American Kalendar, written by Jan Beran). After earning something hurried happily back to their families, where they had left them, beginning first, how would you say, farming! At the present time, there is no Czech community and the settlers are found in a good portion of matters. Czech Lodges that are found in the county are two, Lodge Bila Hora of Verdigre and Sladkovsky in Pishelville. They have their own national hall and ceremonies, it represents a dignified powerful Brotherhood C.S.P.S. A Czech Roman Catholic Church is found in Verdigre under the countryman Priest, Father Jos. Vranek in Creighton. Honored county officials were most all elected after being nominated. In the whole state, yes, even in the Confederation, it is impossible to find occurrence even though a (man) officer holder in the county for sixteen years. This is Mr. Vaclav Randa, written up in full Czech History in this county.
