

SPRING 2022

Human Trafficking in Nebraska & the Great Plains

MWF 10:30 to 11:20 am | Oldfather 204 | Dr. Buller

GEOG 491/891: SPECIAL TOPICS | 3 CR.

Students in this course will identify and analyze temporal and spatial dimensions of human trafficking in the American Great Plains.

Interdisciplinary concepts of cultures, demographics, development, economics, politics, power relationships, and urban dimensions will be featured. Topics of study will include enslavement processes, source regions, transfer locations, and destinations. Common characteristics and patterns of victims, traffickers, and clients will be identified. Class activities will include – but are not limited to – guest speakers, field trips, discussions, research, and meaningful project creation.

For more information, contact the instructor, Dr. Buller (rbuller2@unl.edu).

The University of Nebraska does not discriminate based on race, color, ethnicity, national origin, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, disability, age, genetic information, veteran status, marital status, and/or political affiliation in its programs, activities, or employment.